MEXICO KILLS SCORES

GRAND BRITISH LOAN TALE SILLY, MALICIOUS HOAX.

Government Officials, Denying $100,000,000 Deal, Call Hearst Canard Manifestly Absurd.

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.)
WASHINGTON, Jan. 4.—The gross absurdity of the Hearst story that Viscount Grey, the British Ambassador, had obtained a pledge from the Wilson administration of $100,000,000 to England has attracted more attention than is ordinarily accorded such inventions. The government have been analyzing the falsehood in an effort to solve the riddle of its publication. It is not known, they say, because an exaggeration presupposes a fact, while in this tale there is not one circumstance which approaches anything that happened or could have happened.

They are forced to the assumption that the publication was a malicious and premeditated falsehood rather than an inadvertent error of ignorance.

A desirable place of business for the Secretary of State Landis, who is not averse to any reasonable deal, would doubtless be a story that it was made by Lord Grey, did not mean the creation of a loan while it was in such a malicious tale, but you cannot put it too high.

THE DEDUCTIONS
The disclosure of the report is, it is said, to be illustrated by the fact that Viscount Grey, who is not averse to any reasonable deal, would doubtless be a story that it was made by Lord Grey, did not mean the creation of a loan while it was in such a malicious tale, but you cannot put it too high.

MEMBERS OF THE SENATE FINANCE COMMITTEE are in Washington, and these few refused to take the wild tale seriously.

Senator Snoot, a prominent Republican member of the Finance Committee, said: "There is no matter who made a pledge to that effect. It simply will not be done by Congress."

Jenkins, American consular agent at Puebla, Mexico, have made advances to Cordova, the rebel chief, who had kidnapped Jenkins and held him for ransom, offering Cordova $200,000 ($100,000) if he would come in, accept immunity and testify that Jenkins plotted with him in the famous kidnapping.

Prisoners Taken After Wall is Blown in by Dynamite Mine.

(BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.)
CORK, Jan. 4.—A prolonged battle was fought between the police and Sinn Feiners in the village of Carrigrohilly, nine miles outside of Cork city, last night. For four hours the fight lasted and there were, it is said, 300 Sinn Fein volunteers in the attack which was made on the police barracks. An ex-soldier, who resides in the village, which has a population of less than 500, described the whole affair as being similar to going over the top at night in Flanders for an attack on pillboxes.

Our Texas Oil Leases Are Being Developed

Our Development Work Protects and Proves Your Holdings.

We can't believe, and we don't think, that any reasonable thinking man will try to prevent us from buying oil leases that are being developed, where every surface formation and indication show signs of oil, in a territory that has been Oiled by five good geologists, in a State that has many different pools of oil as has the State of Texas.

We do not guarantee you oil. No. If we did, our price would be $10,000 an acre and up. It's not a commercial investment, if it were, we would only pay you 5% to 8%.

Listen! All a regular American wants is his money's worth, or a good run for his money. We admit that in many cases, they do not get it. But, in the leases we are offering to the public, they do get their money's worth, and more, in view of the fact that we are developing. Your lease is a part of our lease, and, as long as we are developing on our lease, you have no rental to pay. If we get oil, which we believe we will, and, as long as oil is produced we have no rental. Further, you are not forced either to drill or sell. We are selling you these leases below market value. We ask you to take advantage of an opportunity and buy leases that are being developed. Get the benefits of our efforts and expenditure. We own our own drill equipment and are using every modern method known to the oil industry to get oil.

The International Exposition of Industries is operated by the Merchants and Manufacturers Exchange of New York. It is a permanent exhibit and salesroom. It includes the following departments of exhibits:

International Farm Tractor, Trailer and Implement Exchange
International Hardware, House Furnishings and Toy Exchange

Each of these departments covers from 20,000 to 100,000 feet of floor space. This concentrated world market offers to the manufacturer an exceptional opportunity to display and sell his product. It offers the buyer an unusual opportunity, in that he will be able to inspect the products displayed and make comparisons and place orders at once. Machinery and appliances can be shown in operation, if desired. Opportunities for increasing export trade are unlimited.

Our Texas Oil Leases Are Being Developed
Our Development Work Protects and Proves Your Holdings.

We can't believe, and we don't think, that any reasonable thinking man will try to prevent one from buying oil leases that have been developed, where every surface formation and indication show signs of oil, in a territory that has been OK'd by five good geologists, in a State that has many different pools of oil as has the State of Texas.

We do not guarantee you oil. No. If we did, our price would be $10,000 an acre and up. It's not a commercial hypothesis.

Listen! All a regular American wants is his money's worth, or a good run for his money. We admit that, in many cases, they do not get it. But, in the leases we are offering to the public, they do get their money's worth, and more. In view of the fact that we are developing, through our lease, part of our assets as long as the development is profitable, we are developing no rental to pay. If we get oil, which we believe we will, and, as long as oil is produced you have no rent. Further, you are not forced either to drill or sail. We are selling you these leases on a competitive market. We are giving you the best of all opportunities and buy leases that are being developed. Get the benefits of our efforts and expenditures. We own our own drilling equipment and are using every modern method known to the oil industry to get oil.

Monday Morning,

The Broadway Department Store.

Broadway, Fourth and Hill.

Phones: 10571—Broadway 7300.

The Broadway Department Store

Broadway, Fourth and Hill.

Monday, the Third Day Of Our Five Days of Pre-Inventory Offerings

—promises to be rich with opportunities for the practice of wise economy.

—Even those but little conversant with things mercantile know that the desirable thing is to have stocks low at the semi-yearly time of inventory, the reason therefor being the fact that new merchandise for the coming season is pressing for admittance to each department.

—The pre-inventory disposal that is occupying the center of attention at The Broadway is one of exceptional importance at this particular time.

—Market prices continue to soar skyward in such a way that the merchandise now in stock is often marked at prices lower than those asked in the wholesale way; consider the value represented when these regular prices are lowered!

—As is the case with every item advertised on this page!

Women's Coats, Suits and Dresses At Prices that are Greatly Lowered

—We may say, furthermore, that every garment in stock has entered the lists of these striking price lowerings—a noteworthy fact, surely!

—Conversant as we are with the spring prices on women's garments, we feel that we cannot urge too strongly the wisdom of sharing in the truly remarkable values that give such exceptional interest to this pre-inventory disposal of smart coats, suits and dresses.

—Just to give you some idea of what you may expect to find, we may say that

There are Dresses

—made of tricot, velvet, jersey, georgette, peachbloom, velour, satin, tulle, tricot and paillette, and the colors are those high in favor just now.

—There are dresses suitable for street wear, others for afternoon wear, still others for more formal evening occasions.

—Many a woman will be delighted at this opportunity to "treat" herself to the new dress for which she has longed; Monday's prices offer worth-while saving.

$14.95 $29.75 $39.75 $59.75

There are Suits

—made of velour, silvertone, linestone, polart twill, tricot, jersey and other desirable fabrics.

—The colors are navy, taupe, ruddy, rose, liberty red, brown, Copenhagen and other shades; included, too, are some black suits.

—Plain tailored models are to be had, likewise models more ornately designed, some of them with fur collars.

$29.75 $39.75 $49.75 $59.75

Silk Stockings and Underwear Come Under Clearance Ruling

—Naturally, the department in which such things are carried wants to be represented in the announcement of pre-inventory values; so here goes!

Women's Thread

Silk Stockings $3.25

—They are full fashioned black silk stockings, the well reinforced kind, the tops, heels and toes of hals. At Monday's $3.25 marking, they are offered at less than usual.

Women's Lisle

Union Suits $1.50

—for the regular sizes; $1.75 for outsize.

—They are Kayser make and they may be had in either pink or white. These union suits are made with hand tops, narrow shoulder straps and tight-fitting knees.

Children's Fleece

Underwear 59c

—and 69c. There are vests, pants and drawers, the vests in high neck, long sleeve style; the pants and drawers in ankle length. Sizes for children of 2 to 16 years. Monday, 69c and 59c a garment.

Alma 6 and 8.

The Broadway Closes at One O'clock Every Saturday in the Year.

Smocks at $1.95

—We know to whom this feature of the pre-inventory sale will appeal—to wit: to the young girls for whom these exceedingly pretty smocks were designed!

—Without mentioning the original prices at which they were marked, we may say that some of the smocks were more than twice as much; in all cases, the saving offered is quite worth while.

The Materials Used

—are Japanese crepe, poplin and mercerized weaves, in white, pink, blue and green. The smocks are ever so prettily trimmed with yarn or silk in gay colors.

—Pamphlet shaped pockets and belts add their own touches of effectiveness.

—Sizes for girls 4 to 16.

—At $1.95 the saving offered is quite remarkable.

Second Floor.

Women Who Need Beacon Bath Robes will do well to take advantage of the Price Lowerings which are now in order.

—We have grouped a number of these desirable bathrobes, in the pleasantly familiar flower and Navajo designs, and have marked them at $3.95 to $13.50, the prices in all cases being attractively less than those usually in force.

—There are various color combinations from which you may choose. Some of the bathrobes are satin trimmed; all are cut generously full and large sizes are particularly well represented.

—Monday's lowered prices, $3.95 to $13.50.

Third Floor.

All Winter Hats At Half Price

—A pre-inventory offering of exceptional interest, this—and let us tell you at the outset that this attractive repricing will have its influence with hats of such varied selection that you are reasonably sure to find a model which will replace your a-bit-worn-looking hat in a manner quite charming.

There are Hats of Velvet

—Hats of velvet and fur. Hats of beaver and metal cloth—a delightful assortment from which we're inclined to think you will enjoy choosing.

—The regular prices have been $5.00 to $30.00.

Monday, all at half price. 3rd Floor

For the Littlest Folks Right Up to Important Juniors

—there will be specially excellent values in wearables, including many at half regular prices.

Little Girls' Coats at Half Price

—They are made of crystalone, broadcloth, velvet and velveteen. Some of them are made especially rich in appearance, as well as more than ordinarily comfortable, by their fur collars; others are tailored in effect, with belts and fancifully cut pockets.

—Sizes for wee lassies of two to six years old.

—Regularly priced $12.95 to $29.75; on Monday available at half these prices. Second Floor

Trimmed Hats at Half Price

—They are for very little folks, from one to three years old, and very charmingly will they frame the winsome faces of wee maidens. They are made of softly shirred velvet, some of them have touches of fur, some have pretty frills of silk and rosettes of ribbon.

—Regularly priced $4.95 to $7.45 — all at half price, Monday.

Trimmed Hats For Misses 6 to 10

—Charming hats of velvet with facings of satin, effectively trimmed with ostrich, flowers and chenille.

—As for colors, you may choose from blue, tan, brown and rose.

—Regular prices were $4.95 to $15.95; all will be purchasable. Monday, at half these prices.

Juniors' Beautiful Coats

—They are of silvertone, velour and novelty coatings in both straight and belted styles. Some are half, some full lined. In the assortment are coats with fur collars, likewise with plush throw collars.

—Colors are tan, brown, blue and there are also two-tone effects.

—For Monday their much-lowered price will be $29.50.

White Frocks One-Fourth Less

—Such pretty little frocks as they are, too—just made for wee party-goers to don flutteringly—that is, for small maidens of two to six.

—White lawn, dotted, Swiss and Flaxon are the dainty weaves of which they are made—fine tuckings, laces and embroideries contributing very much to their prettiness.

—Regularly these little frocks are priced $2.95 to $5.95; on Monday they will be just one-fourth less than these prices.

Gingham Frocks, $1.19

—Some of them are in plain colors, others are of striped ginghams. Some of them are fashioned in the ever little-girl-like and very quaint high waist, and are finished with belts and trimmed with contrasting colors. They are in sizes for children of two to five.

Second Floor

Sweaters at Half Price

—The cozy sweaters that you want for wearing about the house y'mornings, and that will feel so uncommonly comfortable under your coat when you a-motoring go, may be in this half-price collection.

—Better come and see!

—The sweaters to be offered at half price, Monday, have been taken from regular stock; they are made of wool, are in tuxedo and dip-on styles and are to be had in various desirable colors.

—Regularly $5.95 to $24.50, Monday, all at half price.

Hand-Made Shawls and Hug- Me-Tights at Half Price

—The shawls are in white or black; the hug-me-tights also are in white, daintily trimmed with pink, blue or lavender, some of them deerskin, others with short sleeves.

—Regularly $2.95 to $5.95, all at half price, Monday.

Royal Worcester Corsets Priced as a Pre-Inventory Feature At $1.50

—Needless to say, this is a decidedly lowered price for these long and favorably known corsets.

—This radical lowering of the regular price of these fine corsets is due to the fact that they constitute a broken line.

—There are various models, including the long-hip, low-bust style for average figures; all sizes in the assortment, but not in each model.

Up in the Nursery On the Sixth Floor

—many a wee babe spends a happy, useful hour, while mother goes a-shopping.

—Mothers speak most appreciatively of this feature of The Broadway Service.

—They agree that it is much better for the little folks to remain in the big, bright, airy nursery than to accompany the grown-ups about the crowded store.

A Kindly Nurse

—is in charge of this part of the Broadway. She understands children; and likes them!

—If you make arrangements therefore, milk will be given your baby at the time appointed—just the right temperature, too.

While Pre-Inventory Offerings are In Force

—many mothers will doubtless find extensive shopping tours, wherever the advisability of visiting by the service made possible by the existence of our nursery on the sixth floor.

If You are Interested in

Furs---

If you appreciate

Lowered Prices

—then let us suggest to you the advisability of coming to the part of the Third Floor of The Broadway that is devoted to the display of furs—and come soon—that we may tell you about some of the wonderful values that are being offered as pre-inventory features.

—Since space will not permit of our going into elaborate details in connection with the series of underpricings in which you may share—affecting every neckpiece, coat, cape and stock—we will simply mention that Monday's offerings will include

Capes, Scarfs and Coatees of such wantable peltries as Kolinsky, Mink, Skunk, Mole, Fox, Wolf and Coney

—All pieces are modishly designed, and are well made from carefully selected skins. And all are underpriced in a manner that makes possible savings that are abundantly worth while.

Third Floor

When You Read of the Values

—in the quiet of the after-dinner time and find any number of after-Christmas specials that you want, but know you can't possibly come down town on the day they're available, just telephone.

Individual Service
—tell its members of your desires
—and forget them!
—They will be purchased for you and delivered to your address on the first delivery after your order is received.

Cotton Blankets $3.50 a pair

—Soft, warm ones, well napped, choice of gray or white colored borders.

—These blankets are of large size—68x80—and they are attractively priced for Monday at $3.50.

Plaid Blankets $6.90 a Pair

—In twill weave, soft and warm, the block plaids in pink, blue, tan or gray. The ends are neatly finished, the size 68x80.

Second Floor

Pattern Cloths $4.75

—They are of good weight, snowy white union linen, the patterns being pretty flower designs.

—At $4.75 these cloths are offered away less than their real value.

Mercerized Damask 78c

—It is in 58-inch width, is of good weave, and its highly mercerized finish makes for a very good appearance; in various flower patterns.

Crochet Bedspreads $2.50

—In 76x88-inch size, of good quality, the patterns showing pleasant variety. The pre-inventory pricing is decidedly less.

Pulseless Woman is Revived After Wild Auto Race.

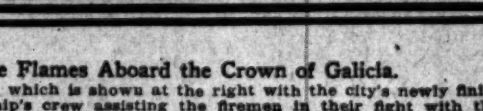

Drug Injection Figures in the Case of Semi-Invalid

A remarkable case of a life saved temporarily at least, by quick work on the part of the police and Ambulance Driver Withers, was recorded, yesterday, when Mrs. Emma Bender, of 122 South Hicks street, wife of Edward J. Bender of Missoula, Mont., was rushed from her home, practically pulseless, to the Receiving Hospital in time for the taking of blood measures which to a late hour last night had succeeded in keeping her alive, with a chance for recovery.

The call to the hospital stated the woman had been overcome by gas heater in the room. Just before 11 o'clock, a patrolman reported drug infection by a neighborhood physician, the police learned, and when the ambulance arrived, she was not breathing. Driver Winters and his assistants worked the pumpout until they started respiration, but realizing that the woman was suffering from an overdose of chloroform, Driver Winters placed her in the ambulance and started a race for life to the hospital. At First and Alameda streets a patrolman saw the ambulance and called the police.

When Patrolman Vaughn, who was standing by, lifted the car and allowed the ambulance to pass, he saw the driver's face from where the automobile raced with the train for the next crossing, and estimated the speed at 40 miles an ward, explained that the officers were at times in real danger as they might not be able to bring the boat into port.

"We had no way of telling when the flames might eat into the land," he said, "and the captain was cautious enough to keep the boat within sight of land almost all way up the west coast. The way was quiet and orderly and safe and that helped a great deal."

The boat reached Los Angeles late Saturday night and yesterday morning, as soon as it passed the strait, it made the v-hat of Outer Harbor Dock and Wharf company. Six days in a "listening post," without food or drink, is the remarkable record which has been brought to Thomas T. Ackerman, San Diego county ranchman and soldier. News of his bravery while under heavy fire reached friends in this city only yesterday.

At the receiving hospital, stationed Police Surgeon Dr. Joseph Police Nuvosa Piaron, Praeter and the others worked over the woman for about 15 minutes, but they were unable to keep her alive by artificial respiration. Allowed to move, she continued to lapse into a weaker condition, but so long as the artificial respiration was kept up, she continued to breathe.

Dr. James H. Baggs assisted Dr. Goodrich in handling the case. Mrs. Goodrich's condition was somewhat improved was brought about according to Dr. Goodrich, by a large dose of morphine, which was administered in the form of a suppository.

Due to a burning gas heater, a large dose of morphine was administered. Dr. Goodrich stated that the dose of morphine, which was administered hypodermically, was not a large dose, but was a dose of atropine, which is given to assist the lungs' action.

declared that the Los Angeles Harbor fireboat earned its name by its part in fighting the fire on the ship. His men were forced to wear gas masks in fighting the fire because of the heavy fumes in the hold.

As soon as the fire was under control, the ship was under way. It was piloted by the harbor surveyor, Sam San Francisco.

Gentlemen:

Having used pianos of various makes during my career as student, teacher and in concert work, it gives me pleasure to inform you that after continuous use of the Chickering for eleven years, it grows purer in tone and of much greater volume.

I consider the Chickering Grand superior to all others, as it fulfills every artistic demand.

"The guard brought the vessel in good shape and it will continue its run. The damage by fire is not serious and the vessel is intact, but will be fully adjusted when the vessel reaches San Francisco. The ship has done a very creditable job and it is hoped the passengers will be able to forget the horrors of its patrons."

In a clash of authority between the San Francisco Department of Fisheries and Game and the U. S. Fish and Game Inspector Packard is said, according to the San Francisco

San Diego. Young Ackerman recently returned to Southern California and is now in the employment of his public. Until his citation was made public members of his family did not know of his unusual achievement. The People and Their Troubles

At What Age are Women Most Interesting?

MR. JOHN DREW, ACTOR

BY JANE DIXON.

"What is it they call the dangerous age? Forty, I believe. It comes to me the woman of forty who has been fortunate enough to retain her physical attractiveness and who has, in addition, the colorful background of a full mental development is more interesting than at any time during her life."—JOHN DREW.

America's admirable and representative actor of the stage—Mr. John Drew. Who can speak more authoritatively on the subject of womanly interest than this excellent gentleman from the land of romance which has just been the scene of the play "The Well-Rounded Figure of Speech," the heroine of large heart and chivalric action, the play actress plucked from the pages of fact and fiction, unfolding there before our eyes as we would have them unfold in real life—that wonder the stage rounds the emotional chords in the sensitive soul of a woman as a musician sweeps the soulful strings of a harp?

For many a season now Mr. Drew has numbered among his following the very highest types of American womanhood. Whenever there is a Drew play current, luminous disfigure their fur-trimmed wraps, literally before the playhouse and the pretty little types who slenderly envelope cannot danger her admiration for a genuine gentleman uses her Saturday afternoon off to see John Drew.

So much for what the women think of Mr. Drew. Now, then, what does Mr. Drew think of them?

"What?—I—er—I find them always charming," was the initial verdict. Therein spoke the diplomat.

We were in the Algonquin Hotel, where the Drews make their winter home when in New York City. The distinguished actor had just come from his club, where only man folk are permitted to foregather, and the question rather staggered him.

"But surely," I insisted, "a woman is more charming at some times than at others?"

Mr. Drew pondered the interrogation a bit. I suspect he feared he was being led into some sort of a trap whereby he might be suborned without warning. At length, however, he thought of the thousandth danger and launched in on the subject with all the composure of a student of humanity and human nature.

"I believe my deepest interest is for the woman who does things worth while both in her home and in the world," he decided. "The woman who neither submerges herself in her home nor stakes herself in her work, but sees to it that each adds beauty and brilliancy to the other."

"There are any number of women who accomplish this feat of feminine grandeur. If I may be permitted mentioning my own kin-folk, I can think of no more admirable example of the type than Miss Ethel Barrymore."

"Mrs. Russell Colt is as successful a wife and mother as ever graced a home. She has three beautiful, healthy, happy children. She is in as close touch with her children as any stay-at-home mother could possibly be. She personally supervises their education and she manages to take charge of such a minor detail as the selection of their wardrobe. She is absolutely and completely devoted to her home."

"Miss Ethel Barrymore is as talented and convincing an actress as ever added luster to the American stage. Each season her art grows richer, more mellow, more subtle in flavor, more colorful, more compelling. Each season she adds another play-person to her already generous repertoire, and the last is always better than the predecessor."

"Mrs. Russell Colt and Miss Ethel Barrymore are one and the same person."

"She is possessed of the spirit of youth, this actress-mother. Time has not touched her beauty. It has added mellowness and depth to her mental attractions and to her art. When I see her in her home I say to myself, 'Here is her mellow, her groove of greatest accomplishment. I see her on the stage and I say, 'I was wrong. It is here, before the footlights, she strikes the pinnacles of her womanhood.' Then when I am away by myself the real truth comes galloping in to wipe out both decisions. Miss Barrymore is at her best in both situations. She has divided herself by two, and the results are mutually beneficial."

I studied Mr. Drew. What is there about this man that has made him the idol of the playgoing public? He is quiet, retiring almost to the point of reticence. Away from the theater the insight is abhorrent to him. He dodges the interviewer much as the ordinary mortal does a "bo" or a "buck." He might be a successful broker or banker—anything but the popular conception of an actor.

Q: This date was fixed as inauguration day by Congress in 1789. Benjamin Franklin is said to have selected the day because in the next two centuries it would fall on Sunday less often than any other day in the year.

A: This peculiar head gear was devised by a board of officers of the A.E.F. in France. The campaign hat could not be used in connection with the gas mask.

Q: How many persons were lost in the sinking of the steamship Titanic?

A: There were 222 passengers and 885 members of the crew, a total of 1107 lost in the sinking of the Titanic on the night of Sunday, April 14, 1912, on its maiden voyage from Southampton, Eng., to New York. There were 222 people aboard.

Q: Are persons holding office under the government prohibited from accepting titles from foreign rulers?

A: They are prohibited from accepting such titles by the Constitution, which says: "No title of nobility shall be granted by the United States. And no person holding any office of profit or trust under them shall, without the consent of Congress, accept of any present, emolument, office or title of any kind whatever from any king, prince or foreign state."

There was a time when youth held away," said Mr. Drew. "Youth is no longer a matter of years, but of disposition. A man never attempts to guess a woman's age nowadays. He knows the fullness of it. She may be 44, and then again she may be 42."

"The woman of—say 40—has reached the fullness of her bloom, providing, of course, she has suffered no physical illness to impair her beauty and has not allowed herself to become mentally slipshod."

"Forty has been called the dangerous age for woman. I have no idea why, unless it is because she has fulfilled her obligations to her family, her children have reached the point where they can more or less look after themselves, and she is free to fit about the world in search of adventure."

"The charge may be correct. Perhaps 40 is the dangerous age. But whether dangerous or otherwise it is interesting. And I have a strange suspicion that the woman who comes out and is branded dangerous at 40 is no small thing. I like Katharine. She certainly does not allow a man's interest to wander."

"But—as I said in the beginning—they are all charming."

The two-toned woman who shines with equal brilliancy at home and abroad. The full-blown woman of 40. Mr. Drew has chosen wisely and well.

QUESTIONS ANSWERED

Question: What is meant by pairing of Senators?

Answer: This means that two Senators, having different views on some measure, agree to abstain from voting upon it, so that the absence of either will not affect the vote.

Q: Why was the fourth of March selected for the inauguration of our President?

A: This date was fixed as inauguration day by Congress in 1789. Benjamin Franklin is said to have selected the day because in the next two centuries it would fall on Sunday less often than any other day in the year.

LETTERS TO "THE TIMES."

WE ARE CONVINCED. PRESCOTT (Arla) Dec. 27.—[To the Editor of The Times:] It amused me much to read the article in your paper a few days ago pertaining to the high cost of living and the great extravagance of today. In it you asked, "where has the miser gone, has he become extinct?"

No, my dear man, he has not. Do not fool yourself. I have one in captivity now, my husband!

We wear old collars, so worn as to have buying new ones. He shaves in the kitchen (which is so small that I have to fall all over him) to save burning five cents worth of electricity in the bedroom or bathroom.

I asked him why he subscribed to your paper (thus spending money) and he said, "because it is the best news for a money in the West and furthermore I save them to light the fire with these cold mornings."

Have I not proved to you that we still have them with us?

DORA LEUC

HAWTHORNE, Dec. 21.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Congratulations! In an hour or so comes to your relief from filing guesses from delicious dreamers regarding Los Angeles population. Heaven grant that you have been beautifully supplied with headshots.

The enclosed guess is not based on carefully worked out tables of percentages of school census directors names, postoffice business or the number of black cats met in an average hour's walk; but on the good old theorem that "birds of a feather flock together."

Rarely has a city of 300,000 inhabitants doubled its population in ten years. Also the stop-over from the San Francisco earthquake had been discounted in 1910. There has been no cause for a phenomenal increase since.

$1,144 is an extremely liberal pessimistic estimate. Pales prophet, may the census prove me to be, may the honors and emoluments go to the statisticians the wise men and boomers who are writing Los Angeles' population above 100,000.

Nothing makes me so joyful as being proven to be a false prophet of evil.

W. C. HEMENWAY.

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 21.—[To the Editor of The Times:] What is the matter with Los Angeles street car service? Monday evening when I was a passenger on a South Pasadena car a little girl made us all miserable crying at the loss of her coat which had been dragged out of the car by a woman passenger when leaving the car, the jam being so great that she came out tugging everybody's clothes off their backs, in her exit. The little girl in company with her aged grandfather and hard work to keep from being crushed to death and in the excitement did not know that her coat was gone until other passengers called attention to the fact that the woman was standing at the corner with excellent results in Southern California. Why not use it for carrying people to the snow-capped mountains, especially Old Baldy? A landing place could easily be made for the airplane on the summit of the mountain. Then possibly a hotel would follow in order to accommodate the visitors. If this air route was established the people of Los Angeles and vicinity would be able to enjoy an outing that would rival the beach in popularity. Imagine leaving your home some morning and in fifteen minutes be on the top of Old Baldy, thus saving a day's trip by the old method.

The possibilities in developing this scheme are good, and it will not be many years before the highest mountains will be visited by thousands of people via air line. The American people are always on the march for new ways of enjoying life—this would be one way.

receding car; the old man being too feeble to breast the crowd was unable to get out and go back after it. It does seem as though a state of affairs should not exist in a city like Los Angeles in normal times; if there had been a circus in town it might be conceivable, but under ordinary conditions, I do not see why the people put up with such service from their public utilities.

AN EASTERN VISITOR.

SANTA BARBARA, Dec. 30.—[To the Editor of The Times:] In reply to "Stow" in last Sunday's Times I would ask him if he considers the natives-born women of the United States on a par with those of the Asiatics. Mr. Intelligent person would fight the battles of our country at the expense of our women. Our men are the best on earth to the women (chattering) who think with Mr. Stow's which are few and far between, I am glad to say.

We women stand back of our men with our loyalty and believe that they can deal with any problem that comes before them, as they have always done. I say deal with the "Brown" problem as with any other. As I am married, I am not marrying an American man would think of it.

WANT BENT TESTED BY INSANITY EXPERTS.

RELATIVES OF Norman Bent, who is now in the City Jail on a charge of assault to commit murder, will today ask the police authorities to have a physician and mental expert to examine him in the belief that he is mentally unbalanced and should be given treatment.

Bent, on Saturday, struck his wife over the head with a hammer, and then threatened to kill everyone in his home at 14 1/2 Santa Fe street. He claims he was under the influence of "something dark" that came before his eyes.

There had been no trouble between the two, the friends of the man say. Mrs. Bent is now at the Crocker-street Hospital, said to be recovering from the blow. The Bents have three children. They have been married seven years, and came here several months ago from Green Bay, Wis. He is a motorcycle mechanic, 26 years of age.

There are no joys this world can give like those it takes away," mused the literary Mr. Toomer, detective sergeant in charge of the complaint counter at Central Station yesterday, when he filed the report of George Cognacci.

Two quarts of whisky, a man he did not know, a woman or two, also strangers, but susceptible of cultivation, a .375 caliber leather grip and gun, all need to see anything of $500 in cash, figure in Cognacci's arid adventures. These and plenty of mystery.

George, a native of Arizona, is the Cognacci of the Cognacci Cafe of Yuma, Ariz. The prohibition map of the country proclaims the fact that Arizona has been dry for a long time.

THE STRIKE HABIT.
 The brotherhoods indicate a purpose of going on a strike just to show that they cannot be debarrated from striking. They feel just like little Willie when he has been warned to keep away from the prunes.

DRUNK WITH PLEASURE.
 The assertion of that Venice man that he got drunk on two quarts of salt water fresh from the sea may start a lot of people lapping up our beautiful ocean. We have always thought there was something intoxicating about our peerless Pacific.

WHO IS TIRED NOW?
 They tried out a new film screen in New York that was guaranteed not to tire the eyes of the spectators; but it does not seem to have been a howling success. There is a growing feeling that it may be the picture and not the screen that make people tired.

HOMELESS PEOPLE.
 Nearly six hundred thousand French homes were wrecked or destroyed by shell fire during the great war and of that number only about 10 per cent. have thus far been rebuilt or restored. There are still thousands of families that may be classed as homeless, although in a land where the home has been for centuries the most cherished of all human institutions.

DISCOVERED IN LOS ANGELES.
 A Los Angeles scientist, who is internationally known for his inventions and discoveries, says that he has found a means of preserving fruits and vegetables indefinitely, and in perfect condition, without the use of either ice or chemicals, and at a cost of next-to-nothing compared with the cold storage methods now employed. If the discovery or invention proves so efficient as the learned man believes it will, it will mean the saving of untold millions of dollars to the people of America annually—and it will make all of us practically independent of the ice man.

A CITY OF HOMES.
 A local minister has become so impressed with the beauty and variety of style of Los Angeles residences that he is preaching a series of sermons on "The Homes of Los Angeles." This city is achieving world-wide fame as a residential municipality and that fame will increase so long as God continues to shower the sunbeams upon us and to fan us with zephyrs from heaven. The beauty of it is that, with its palaces and cottages, its bungalows and mansions, Los Angeles has a population which includes the greatest percentage of home owners of any city in the United States.

HIGHBROW ORGANIZER.
 The Associated Teachers who turned a union and affiliated with the Federation of Labor pledged themselves in their constitution never to indulge in a strike. What is the big idea in joining the federation? A federation without a strike is as unimpressive as a pillow without a plug hat. Have the professors any idea that they can remain the federation by working from within? The answer is, of course, no. The highbrow organizer is a fraud.

DANGER—TAKE WARNING!
 It would seem that the poison-whisky outrage in the East, and the terrible punishment that nature meted out to those who indulged in the deadly concoction, would have proved sufficient warning to people everywhere. Nevertheless, reports continue to come in from all parts of the country, telling of sickness, blindness and death resulting from indulgence in liquor purchased from bootleggers. In Los Angeles, too, men today live and another is said to have gone blind after having taken one swallow of poisoned whisky. This is a good time to remember that the selling of any kind of alcoholic beverage is against the law and that the bootlegger is a law-breaker, who, like all other criminals, has only a selfish and in view, with no regard for the welfare of society in general or for his own victim.

THE RECONCILIATION.
 An orator of San Francisco, now visiting in Los Angeles, is preaching that "Reconciliation and reason are one and inseparable." The statement sounds good, and the acceptance of it as a truth would probably help over many apparently insurmountable obstacles in the pathway of thought. The world has long looked forward to the reconciling of religion and science, of faith and logic, and perhaps the time is not far distant when such a reconciliation shall be apparent. And why not? Creeds and foolish superstitions may not be reasonable, but true religion always is. It is reasonable to love, to hope and to have faith, because experience has taught humanity that the exercise of hope, faith and love are beneficial. On the other hand, reason substantiates and corroborates these truths which we inherently know. All intellectual progress is founded on assumption, or faith, and a broadened and strengthened intelligence develops a belief in the omnipotent and the omniscient.

CAN'T SOVIETIZE AMERICA.
 Anti-Bolshevist raids by the government in thirty-five American cities come as a severe jolt, not only to the Bolsheviks, but to thousands of citizens who have steadily refused to believe that the Bolshevik menace in this country was anything less than a figment of the imagination of a nightmare. The arrest of more than 4000 persons on warrants charging them with attempting to overthrow the government by violent means is indisputable evidence of a widespread plot to sovietize the government and industries of the country. It is the boldest attempt at rebellion since the Civil War. Perhaps the most astonishing part of it is the naive surprise of the conspirators to learn that in a free country an attempt to destroy the government should be considered a crime. Most of them seem to have been possessed with the idea that so long as they were guilty of no overt act they could preach Bolshevism and anarchy to their heart's content.

For the government and people alike the awakening to the Bolshevik menace has been tardy. It seems contrary to the dictates of the human conscience that thousands who came to this country to escape political tyranny should attempt to escape that same tyranny shortly after their arrival. The reason for that anomaly is to be found in the fact that revolution and democracy are synonymous terms in the language of Eastern Europe. The Slav peoples have no clear understanding of the meaning of representative government. Because the laws of their own countries were tyrannical, they imagine that all legal restraint is a form of tyranny. To them law is a negation of justice. And a just law is as impossible as an honest thief.

When one comes to understand the crude and unenlightened course of reasoning of the Russian proletariat, the persistent assaults of the Bolsheviks on American institutions are, in a large measure, explained. They distrust all that they do not understand, and they have not the slightest apprehension of the true meaning of American liberty. That a people should of their own volition enact laws and elect rulers to govern them is beyond the Slav understanding. That there should be government with the consent of the governed is, to them, absurd nonsense.

It is equally beyond the comprehension of the average American that there should be millions of such ignorant foreigners in this country. For the average American does not grasp the idea that our population has passed the hundred-million mark and that, before the war, there was an influx of foreigners approximating 1,000,000 a year. There is this country at the present time about 7,000,000 foreigners who can neither speak nor read the English language. The recruiting of a few thousand Bolsheviks among that number is not surprising. When a population of 100,000,000 in Russia is burning with anarchy the sparks are carried far.

The arrest and deportation of those Bolsheviks are as necessary as cauterizing a wound. If it were not done, the disease would follow. But because 5000 have been apprehended, it does not follow that the whole country is turning Bolshevik. The only Americans among them are of the parlor Bolshevik class, except a few demagogues who have associated with them for personal advancement. The parlor Bolsheviks cannot be deported; but they can be proscribed under existing State laws. The present raid was directed almost exclusively against foreigners; the I.W.W. were not molested. Their turn will probably come at a later date. It is in the I.W.W. locals that most of the radical union laborers are to be found.

A local minister will doubtless be raised to the position of preaching the gospel of radicals; and there may be a demand for a temporary policy on the part of the Federal government. But the Times does not believe that this cry will find a responsive echo in the country at large. There has been no spread of radicalism in the country, outside labor union ranks. The middle classes, forming three-fourths of our population, have never been more loyal to American institutions. The leaders of the American Legion are working and public sentiment is opposed to all forms of radicalism. The trend of the best thought of the country is conservative. Every institution of the American government stood the test of the war. There is no demand for such radical amendments to the Constitution or for radical legislation in the States. The greatest insistence at the present time is for anti-radical legislation, for a more rigid enforcement of the laws. Bolshevism can never capture this country. It can never win against American traditions and American intelligence.

Los Angeles will excite the envy of many other sections of the country by reason of the comparatively few revolutionists arrested here. The government agents found this city singularly free from Bolshevism. If the raid had taken place three months ago the result might have been different. During the last thirty days the District Attorney's office and the local police of the American Legion have made a round-up of the local Reds. With the exception of the parlor Bolsheviks, Los Angeles harbors little radicalism. This is due in part to the fact that the number of radical labor unionists is smaller than in any other city of like population in the country. In an atmosphere of industrial freedom radicalism and sovietism do not thrive.

ON FRIENDLY MISSION.
 Several years ago the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce organized a tour to the Orient so that local bankers, importers, exporters and others might have an unusual opportunity of obtaining first-hand knowledge of trade conditions in the great countries across the Pacific. The results were valuable in more ways than one. The Japanese returned the compliment and evidently they found this method of getting acquainted with Americans satisfactory, for they have adopted it again in deciding to send a delegation to America charged with the mission of restoring friendly relations between the United States and Japan by means of speeches and interviews.

The coming of such a delegation will mark the establishment of a new method of intercourse between nations because the mission which the delegation will undertake will be one which before the war was left to the diplomats. The Japanese frankly say that it is urgently necessary that relations between the two countries be placed on a sounder basis than exists at this moment. They believe this work should not be left entirely to ambassadors and other officials, but politicians, business men and others should unite for the attainment of a common object. There is much to commend in this point of view and Los Angeles, in common with every city visited by this delegation, will be glad to co-operate. This committee will be able to study on the spot the Japanese question as it affects California and will learn why this country cannot materially change its immigration policy.

"Why, That's One of Grandmother's Old Remedies"

FOOTBALL INSTINCT.
 Post-mortems over the Harvard-Oregon football game are proceeding apace, and indications are that the obsequies will extend through a period of years. People will continue talking about that battle until their voices break under the strain. In fact, one of the chief enjoyments of an athletic event of that magnitude is the retrospection.

Interwoven through the aftermath there is that difference of opinion without which there could be no competitive athletics. These disagreements are not confined to the radical partisans of the two teams; but the more cold-blooded analysts and experts, unmoved by sentiment, have been able to select grounds of disagreement.

However, there is one outstanding fact, the same being that for once the "dope" ran true to form. Harvard was picked to win, and Harvard won. As Harvard's goal line had been crossed before this season, Oregon on its record did not figure to penetrate it. It was previously pointed out that the Lemon-Yellow's best and probably only chance of scoring was by the drop-kick route, and that also was what happened. That Coach Huntington was planning his campaign along this line was apparent from the importance he placed on kicking in practice. Also, the fact was emphasized that Oregon's record during the regular season had been by no means invulnerable, and was penetrated by less powerful teams than Harvard. Harvard was picked to score on Oregon by the touchdown route, and that also happened. It was believed that Harvard would cross the Oregon line probably twice. The Crimson team told only inches of doing so. Therefore, the fact was that without any element of surprise, the surprise came in the play itself, meaning the failure of the great Crimson line to batter down the Oregon barrier. "Breaks" had nothing to do with the victory, although they may have influenced the size of Harvard's score. The "breaks" did not play a part in the result, for the very reason that Oregon put the "breaks." Rather, Oregon made the "breaks" for itself, and in that phase of endeavor completely overshadowed the victory. With one exception, the Lemon-Yellow recovered the ball when it fumbled, whereas following a Harvard fumble, some nimble Oregon player nearly always was wrapped around the oval. Western athletes as a rule show greater instinct in following the ball than easterners.

Harvard's frequent and expensive fumbling and failure to recover indicate three things—absence of that skill which comes from sustained practice, heaviness of foot and lack of football instinct. Despite assertions to the contrary, Harvard was not in anything like form, either as individuals or as a team. For some rather obscure reason, coaches and trainers never will give a true line on the condition of a team. Harvard, like its predecessors, underrated the West. Either that or it is impossible to induce a bunch of college athletes to jump west until the trip is painted to them as a joy ride. Trainer Donovan did admit that he permitted the men to eat all they desired on the way out, explaining that in so other way could he keep them contented. This in a measure explains Harvard's sluggishness after the first ten minutes of play. After the first half it looked like a good bet that lack of condition would beat Harvard. When the ball was kicked off in the second half, the Crimson athletes followed it down the field more slowly than a kick-off was ever trailed before in a big game. The leg-weary men simply dragged themselves down the field. Then came that surprising, final, crushing attack in the last ten minutes, one of those phenomena of athletics for which there is no explanation. Of course, such "comebacks" are not unusual among highly trained men. Frequently, a boxer in the ring, dazed and tottering, becomes clear-headed and dangerous with a sudden rush of strength. In Harvard's case, however, there probably was a psychological impetus back of this sudden gushing of power, in which the team performed out of all proportion to its waning strength. College teams, rather than professional, are prone to this unexpected and astounding heights.

TANTALIZING TALK.
 Everybody knows the story about poor Tom Sharkey, who electrified the loungers in his saloon one day by saying heartily: "Well, boys what are we going to have?" And then, as the loungers gathered around the bar, he added: "Rain or shine?" Congressman Gordon Lee, of Chockomauga, tells a story of a similar kind about a mean man at Atlantic City. Some friends visited him on a hot evening, and after they had sweltered awhile in his sit-down room, he said: "Well, friends, could you stand some refreshments?" "We certainly could," the visitors replied, and they moistened their dry lips in pleasant anticipation.

"Then," said the mean man, rising, "let's open this window. There's promise of a breeze."—[Pittsburgh Chronicle-Telegraph.]

PSYCHERS AND THE PSYCHED.

BY ALMA WHITAKER.

The vogue for applied psychology is rather disconcerting when one realizes that an alarming number of people are busy applying it to us, to you and me, for all sorts of diverse causes, attainments, profits and reforms. We prefer to think of it as an abstract science that is being exploited for, say, the better understanding of criminals, youthful delinquents, dope fiends or perhaps the Filipinos, Japs or Chinese, or maybe the more shy and retiring wild animals whose manners, customs and motives we yearn to comprehend.

But as a matter of fact, we, the average common citizens, are the daily victims of a vast band of professional psychologists, who are earnestly studying our little weaknesses, tastes, vanities, ambitions and frailties generally. They are busy getting acquainted with the innermost workings of our complicated minds, that we may henceforth be an open book to them. They are denuding us of all our little barricades of mental reserves, they have us dissected, tabulated, pigeon-holed, filed away into types and classes and species, so that they can place us at a glance, gauge exactly what we shall say and do under given circumstances and respond nicely to treatment.

Ever read one of those books on salesmanship? Your first-class salesman has us, every type of us, neatly assayed to the last grain. When he wants to sell us an automobile, for instance, he first satisfies himself that we are a veritable "prospect" before he takes the bait. He proceeds to work his diabolical knowledge of our characters. He knows just how much flattery and what sort we shall fall for; he knows our pet conceits and the general inclination of our tastes; he knows just how much of a showy snob we are, or whether practical utility is our pet preference; he knows whether gaudy estimation and paint and equipments catch our fond fancy, or whether we have a penchant for engines and long service. In short, the wretch knows us, and the chances are we don't begin to know him.

Or take the insurance men. Bright psychologists every one. Right off the bat they know your line of talk is going to get us. If we are benevolent sentimentalists with a yearning to leave our loved ones financially provided for, we are a little dubious about our old age, but crave senile independence; if our sense of duty after death and our passion for present speculation somewhat conflict; if we are shrewd

WIVES AS BREAD WINNERS.
 The work of the housekeeping wife is not listed among gainful occupations, yet nowadays the woman who will not have a maid, because maids can be had at fancy prices only, is no mean figure as a bread-winner.

A writer upon domestic economy has given a fair estimate of the cost of a kitchen servant is arrived at by multiplying the salary by two, to include board, lodging, fuel, light, breakage and unaccountable methods. If the estimate is approximately correct a $10-a-week maid costs the householder $20 a week, or $1040 a year.

In such circumstances the housekeeper in the establishments which boasted two maids before the war and now has but one, or the housekeeper who had one maid before the war and now has none, is occupied gainfully and profitably. The family budget may be $1040 less, for the same scale of living than it must be if a maid at $10 a week is added to the expense.—[Louisville Courier-Journal.]

News Notes from Prosperous Neighboring Towns.

(LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.)
TULARE, Jan. 4.—Building operations in Tulare for the year 1919 set a new record, exceeding by a large margin the best previous year in the history of this city. Nearly $700,000 has been expended in construction of all kinds, including stores, residences, schools and industrial plants.

Despite this record, the housing situation is still a serious one, and privately-controlled corporations and building companies fostered by the Tulare Board of Trade are now at work on plans for providing an adequate number of homes within which to take care of new settlers.

HOUSES FOR SOLDIERS.
VISALIA.—Lieut. John V. Lowe, instructor in U. S. General Hospital No. 21 in Denver, Colo., is here to inspect tracts of land which will be available for the use of service men who have been patients at his institution and who have so far recovered as to be able to do a certain amount of outside work. Climatic and other conditions are said by Lieut. Lowe to be the best in California.

GOOD HAY CROP.
PORTERVILLE.—Although rainfall has been thus far below normal for the season, range feed has been given a good start in the foothills, according to reports of cattlemen from the White River and Hot Spring districts. Grass is four to five inches in height and growing steadily, according to these reports. Present prospects, it is said, are much more encouraging than for last year at this time, when the rainfall was much heavier.

NEW FARM EXPERT.
VISALIA.—Raymond Ellis, formerly of Los Angeles, has taken a post with the County Farm Adviser as citrus expert, and will assume his duties at once. The appointment of Mr. Ellis comes as the result of an insistent demand from the orange growers, who declared that under the former administration of the Farm Adviser's Office, with no man versed in citrus culture available, they were getting scant returns for their trees.

LOCKJAW VICTIM.
TULARE.—Mrs. James T. Grimsley, wife of a well-known rancher of the Woodville District, may lose her life as the result of having stepped on an upturned garden rake at her country home. One of the prongs penetrated the sole of her foot and became locked in it. Mrs. Grimsley was removed to a local hospital, where her condition was said to be critical.

OPEN SHOP WINS.
PORTERVILLE.—Orange packing for the 1919 naval season has closed in the Porterville District, with the right between the Packing House Managers' Association and the Central California Fruit Workers' Union distinctly in favor of the packers.

According to a statement from the packers today, all the dozen plants in this city and immediate district were conducted throughout the season as open shops. The scale of wages paid was slightly less than that for which the union made demand at the outset of the season. According to their declaration, there was no delay in shipping, the managers declare, because of a shortage of any class of skilled labor.

MAKES OFFER TO CITY.
Matter of Buying Grove of Palms up to Council.

(LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.)
HEMET, Jan. 4.—Agitation for the construction of a first-class hotel in Hemet has resulted in an offer by the Whittier estate to sell to the city what is known as the old park, subject to the approval of the Superior Court at San Francisco. Public opinion is decidedly in favor of accepting the offer as it is understood it is the intention of the executors to sell the north half of the block for business purposes if the city fails to record acceptance. The property in question has a number of flourishing palm trees which would make the foundation for a beautiful park. The matter is to be considered at the meeting of the City Council tomorrow night.

RIVERSIDE, Jan. 4.—Arrested at the K.M.C.A., where he had taken a room for the night, Dean Stanley, 11-year-old sailor, whose home is at Banning, broke down when confronted by the officers, and confessed to stealing an automobile from A. F. Alexander at Beaumont. Officers Bradley and Mendes traced the car over the Box Springs grade road by means of the tracks on the wet pavement, finally locating it at a local garage. The car was found to be seriously damaged by the treatment it received at the hands of the youth.

American Boats Lay Barrage of Deadly T.N.T.

(LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.)
POMONA, Jan. 4.—Chadlain Richard Davis of the U. S. cruiser Columbia, attached to the Atlantic Fleet, a visitor here at the home of Harvey J. Nichols, former president of the Pomona Chamber of Commerce, referring to the refusal of Admiral Sims and others to accept decorations awarded them because of their service in the North Sea, said he could make no criticism of the Navy Department awards, but that he saw no reason why he should not state the facts.

The naval officer then declared that to the best of his knowledge and belief not a single commanding officer of the fleet of ten American mine layers that put a barrage of T.N.T. across the North Sea and lived in constant danger day and night for months in those forbidding and submarine-infested waters, was rewarded with the Distinguished Service Cross.

THREE DAYS WED.
WANTS DIVORCE.
(LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.)
RIVERSIDE, Jan. 4.—Married for three days, but now more eager to secure a divorce than he was a marriage license a few days ago, Clement E. Williams, automobile mechanic, of San Bernardino, today declared he was through with matrimonial adventures. He was married here New Year's Eve to Miss Lettie Grace Edsall of 419 Chestnut street.

Two hours later she refused to live with him, Williams says. "The County Clerk issued the license at 9 o'clock Wednesday evening and we were married shortly afterward. Then we went to a movie and then to her cottage on Chestnut street. After she suddenly had a change of heart and told me she wanted to live alone, at the same time requesting me to get off the premises."

On his wife's door Williams last night found pinned a note on which were pencilled the following words: "Ed, this is the last. I can't live with you and be contented and am going to my folks right away." While not quite sure about it, Williams thinks his wife's parents live at Banning.

the hulls on the rocks might have caused the detonation of the explosives aboard.

The work of the mine-laying fleet was highly extolled by the chaplain, who said it was wonderful when it was realized that the idea of the mine barrage was first conceived in the October following the entrance of the United States into the war, and by the first of the ensuing June the fleet was laying the mines, accompanied by squadrons of destroyers. The mine fleet personnel, including the men on shore at Inverness and other Scottish bases, was 1000 officers and men. They laid during the course of their operations no less than 70,700 mines, each mine costing the government approximately $1000.

Chaplain Davis is one of the first of the Christian Science faith to be appointed to the naval service. The vessel he served on throughout the war was a Morgan liner that formerly brought many easterners on their way to California, it having plied between New York and New Orleans, connecting at the latter port with the Southern Pacific lines.

GIN FOR PERRIS.

(LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.)
HEMET, Jan. 4.—The Hemet-San Jacinto district has come to the aid of the project, proposed by J. C. Odell, to establish a cotton gin at Perris. During the last week more than 1000 acres were signed up by ranchers, agreeing to plant in cotton next year. The quota of acreage from Perris asked by Mr. Odell, 2000 acres, is practically assured. In these days of motor trucks, the transportation of the cotton from this district to Perris will add but little to the cost.

This young lady, according to failing to find relief from other she is now as strong, well and

SCORE KILLED; MANY INJURED.

Report City's Worst Month
for Reckless Traffic.

Appalling Statistics Compiled
by Automobile Club.

Severe Jail Sentences are Urged by Officials.

December was the worst month for reckless traffic in the annals of Los Angeles, with twenty-two persons killed in accidents and 422 injured, according to a report compiled yesterday by the Automobile Club of Southern California on statistics furnished by the police traffic bureau.

There were eleven more people killed in Los Angeles through traffic accidents than in November, an increase of 100 per cent.

There were 1442 traffic accidents reported to the police last month, as against 1446 the month before, a gain of 102. Of the 422 persons injured, 298 were pedestrians, and thirteen pedestrians were injured fatally, while thirty-six were seriously injured.

COURTS MUST ACT.
According to automobile club officials the city is facing one of the most serious conditions in its existence, as there is apparently no attempt to check the existing reckless driving on the part of motorists and pedestrians. That grave steps will have to be taken by the local courts is an authoritative opinion. If the number of traffic accidents continues to increase at the same rate, there will be 50 per cent. more deaths from traffic mix-ups in 1920 than there were in 1919.

Where there were four pedestrians killed by accident on the streets of Los Angeles during November, there were thirteen killed in December. That the Christmas holiday rush is not alone accountable for this increase is the opinion of automobile club officials. It is rather an indicated feature of the present era, says President Fred L. Baker.

A certain class of automobile drivers have made the fatal mistake of allowing their motorcars to become subjugated by the feeling of "rush" that is in the air," he stated yesterday. "Pedestrians are also unfortunately becoming obsessed with it."

DISREGARD SIGNS.
The automobile club has placed 800 signs on the main thoroughfares of Los Angeles warning motorists to make it reckless and not reckless, and pointing out the number of traffic accidents in one month, but apparently this step has accomplished nothing.

"Those who cause traffic accidents are traveling too fast and too recklessly to care about reading," it seems that they should be given a simple time in a jail cell to read the warnings of the daily press and to contemplate the error of their ways."

There were 211 serious automobile accidents reported to the police during December. Comparative statistics show that where 370 persons were injured here in November, in December, there were 422 injured in December—an increase which is declared to be alarming.

FOR WOMAN LONG HERE.

Funeral of Well-Known Settlement Worker to be Held Today.

Funeral services for Miss Mary E. Spencer, well-known settlement woman and settlement worker, who died at her Beverly Hills home Friday, will be conducted at 1 p. m. today in chapel of Peck and Chase. Miss Spencer died suddenly of pneumonia at the age of 74 years.

Miss Spencer had lived in Los Angeles for thirty-two years prior to her moving, a short time ago, to 201 Canyon drive, Beverly Hills. Two brothers, John and James Spencer, live in this city. She was a sister of the late Mrs. Thomas D. Spencer. The deceased was deeply interested in settlement work, being one of the organizers of the Lafayette Industrial School here. She will be buried at Hollywood.

"ONLY ONE THING BREAKS MY COLD"

"That's Dr. King's New Discovery for fifty years a cold-breaker."

NOTHING but sustained quality and unflinching effectiveness can arouse such enthusiasm. Nothing but sure relief from stubborn colds and crushing new ones, grippe, throat-aching coughs and croup could have made Dr. King's New Discovery the nationally popular and standard remedy it is today.

Fifty years old and always reliable. Good for the whole family. A bottle in the medicine cabinet means a short-lived cold or cough. 60c and $1.50. All druggists.

Regular Bowels in Health.

Bowels that move spasmodically—true one day and stubborn the next—should be healthily regulated by Dr. King's New Life Pills. In this way you keep the impurities of waste matter from circulating through the system by cleansing the bowels thoroughly and promoting the proper flow of bile.

Mild, comfortable, yet always reliable. Dr. King's New Life Pills work with precision without the constipation results of violent purgatives. 25c, as usual at all druggists. (Advertisement) more than one-fourth of the total supply of earth's products are going to waste. Even the products preserved by use of ice lose their vitality and therefore something of their natural food value. The new method will mean a saving to every housewife of many dollars annually, and the only cost attached will be the price of a preserver, which may cost anywhere from $5 to $10, less than the price of an ice chest. The discovery, I believe, is of greater import to California than the discovery of gold here in 1849, and it will mean millions of dollars to the Southland. Its trade with South America and the Orient. Personally, I hope that the Southland will manufacture the conservatories, because I think this is the proper section for such a factory.

Dr. Harry Barringer Cox; His Wonder-Working Conservatories.

Los Angeles allowed San Francisco to "get away" with my last big discovery and to commercialize it. It is for the business men of Los Angeles to say whether or not San Francisco or San Diego shall carry away this last prize.

Dr. Cox stated that vegetables may remain in a conservatory in perfect condition for any length of time and that, in shipment, if can should be sidetracked for six months, there would be no loss.

ICE NEEDLESS.
"In the near future," he said, "grocers will not keep their 'perishable products' either on display or in ice. The customer will simply order so many pounds of carrots, apples, peas, or whatever he may want and the grocer will go to his conservatory, produce and weigh the desired product and the customer will know that he is not being cheated, so far as getting rotten fruit or vegetables is concerned. I consider this discovery as a gift from Almighty God, a gift of which the world is sadly in need today."

Another remarkable feature concerning the keeping of products in these preservers is that, while fruit and vegetables are kept 'alive' and in as perfect condition as if in the earth or on a tree, it is impossible for anything to sprout because of the fact that there is nothing in the vessel, as there is in the earth or air, upon which the seed or germ of life may feed.

"This fact," said Dr. Cox, "constitutes the only difference between my method and that of Mother Nature. You, who notice here that while this potato has started to sprout, the development stops immediately as it touches the outer edge of the coat, because it finds no nourishment for further growth. Dr. Cox predicted the discovery while in the Federal forest reserves of Southern California in which, a few months ago, he developed the process of converting the natural elements of the air into the active principle of radium.

APPLAUSE GREETSCAMPANA AS SOLOIST.
LARGE AUDIENCE PRESENT AT SYMPHONY POP CONCERT.

BY JEANNE REDMAN.
The popular concert of the Los Angeles Symphony Orchestra attracted an audience of about 3000 persons to Clune's Auditorium yesterday afternoon. Enjoyment of the performance was marked and the soloist, Ettore Campana, baritone, was applauded to the echo. He sang the "Pavane" prologue and for encore the "Toreador Song," which he was obliged to repeat.

Campana has a large and powerful voice, and a strong dramatic sense, and won his applause in spite of a cold which made itself evident in the "Pavane" prologue and in the "Toreador Song," which he was obliged to repeat.

The "Swedish Wedding March" was the opening number, followed by a minute of Mozart, from the E-flat Symphony, which was very charmingly played.

Adolph Tandler, conductor, is particularly interested in the performance of the "Swedish Wedding March" and the "Belshazzar's Feast" suite was delightfully performed. Tandler is a native of the fine plantations in the "Solitude" and "Nocturne" movements. The work is slight, but attractive, and was as usual in the writings of Sibelius, and was characteristically influenced by the display of small arms and other of the smaller trophies of the war in charge of members of the American Legion, and the history of which piece will be explained to visitors.

Until January 17 the Legion will have the Pavilion in Pershing Square, and the exhibit will be open from 8 a. m. until late at night.

CHURCHMEN BEHIND RAIDS.

charge of the police at Ascot Park yesterday, said: "I was having great difficulty in clearing the tracks of the crowds that endangered their own life, when Commissioner Burge approached me and demanded that I order my uniform men to begin arrests of the bookmakers. I told him the track had to be cleared and evidence had to be gathered, whereupon he allowed me some time to clear the track, but said he had enough evidence and threatened that unless I immediately ordered the arrests he would suspend me and Chief Home in the morning. I further attempted to explain to him that the nature of the cases we will have to take to court is such that complete evidence was needed and that at that time plain clothes men were working in the crowd gathering evidence and placing bets, and that premature arrests would ruin these cases. But he insisted, and even insisted that I have tried to 'tip' the raid off to the gamblers. The result of the matter was that one man arrested only eight, instead of forty, and that they say their cases are not strong enough to obtain felony convictions."

The commissioner threatened me with immediate suspension and also said he would prefer charges against me and Chief Home today."

The arrested men all furnished bail of $100 at Central Station and were released. The prisoners gave the names of W. Detrick, 33 years of age; J. Matthews, 53; Charles Baldwin, 55; J. F. Davenport, 29; J. Wood, 35; J. Carey, 33; Milton D. Page, 22; J. Elerick, 22.

Dr. C. C. Sealeman, who was a member of the Burge party that visited Ascot Park yesterday, spoke on gambling last evening to the congregation of Trinity Methodist Episcopal Church, South. He stated that with three officers of his church—Mr. Burge headed on the stand and the other two being withheld—he went to the races. Because of his prominence Dr. Sealeman stated that his mission would be known should he appear and make a bet.

The three other members of the party did go in. Dr. Sealeman stated, and saw the bets being placed and saw the winners come. So for their cash. He declared that officers stood in line as the lucky ones received their winnings, and when the bets were demanded the bookmakers were notified and all refused to pay off.

Commissioner Burge acted with the approval of the United Church Brotherhoods was the statement given out last night.

(For a full account of the Ascot races, see the sports section of The Times.)

AMERICAN LEGION
OPENS WAR EXHIBIT.
German instruments of war, a machine gun, war clubs found by American doughboys after an advance, hand grenades used by both the Allies and their enemies, and many other weapons, were placed on exhibit yesterday in Pershing Square, and will be shown for two weeks as a benefit for the Los Angeles Post, American Legion.

The collection of trophies, gathered by men of the army and navy during the world war, and transported to the United States, many times under great hardships, is declared to be the finest brought to the Pacific Coast, and is undoubtedly the best ever shown in Los Angeles.

Many relics, so rare as to be almost a feature attraction in themselves, are shown in the tent in the center of the park. With the exhibit is also a mascot, Punkin, a terrier who served as mascot with Co. C, Twenty-seventh Engineers, and who was honorably discharged from the United States Army at the age of 2 years. Punkin is declared to be the only dog ever to receive a discharge from the United States Army, and left the service, after being gassed in the Argonne Forest.

Toll songs of the world's "scout" character. The display of small arms and other of the smaller trophies of the war in charge of members of the American Legion, and the history of which piece will be explained to visitors.

Until January 17 the Legion will have the Pavilion in Pershing Square, and the exhibit will be open from 8 a. m. until late at night.

Is Backache Making You Miserable?

IT isn't right to drag along from day to day feeling weak, miserable—half sick. You want to be well, and the best way to get well is to find out what is making you feel so badly and try to correct it. Perhaps it's your kidneys. A cold, a strain, worry or overwork may have weakened the kidneys and brought on that throbbing backache or those sharp, stabbing pains that wear your nerves and keep you tired, fretful, "all unstrung." You may have morning lameness, too, headaches, dizzy spells and irregular kidney action. Don't wait! Neglect may mean more serious troubles—dropsy, gravel or dangerous Bright's disease. Use Doan's Kidney Pills. They have helped thousands of ailing folks. They should help you. Ask your neighbor!

These are Los Angeles Cases:

Mrs. J. Hardisty, 340 N. Avenue 21, says: "I know Doan's Kidney Pills will do what is claimed for them. I had kidney complaint and my back ached so I couldn't sweep the floor or do my household work. I felt dull and tired mornings. I could not rest nights for the miserable aching. My kidneys acted too often. I read of Doan's Kidney Pills and used them as directed. They were not long in stopping the backaches and putting my kidneys in good condition. I could do my work without any trouble."	Antonio Nunes, 1673 E. Jefferson St., says: "My work in a cold storage plant is trying on the kidneys and causes me to have attacks of backache. I was so stiff and lame I could hardly bend my back. I couldn't rest at night and was miserable during the day. My kidneys did not act right and at times were free and then again ached. I read of Doan's Kidney Pills and used them. They were what I needed and soon my back was well and strong and my kidneys were in good shape."	Mrs. E. B. Cole, 225 1/2 North Eastlake avenue, says: "I am glad to say a good word for Doan's Kidney Pills. I know they are just as represented. My kidneys were weak and I had dull, aching pains across my back. I was hardly ever free from headaches and I had no energy. The action of my kidneys was irregular. I read of Doan's Kidney Pills and used them. They helped me wonderfully. The backaches left and I was free from the headaches. My energy was restored and my kidneys acted regularly."

J. M. Smith, carpenter, 1571 East Thirty-third street, says: "Doan's Kidney Pills put my kidneys in good shape and I gladly recommend them. I had severe pains in my back. They made it hard for me to do any stooping or lifting. My kidneys didn't act regularly. I used Doan's Kidney Pills and they soon cured me of the trouble. My back is now well and strong and I have had no further trouble since using Doan's."	Mrs. F. H. Mersinger, 316 South Gates street, says: "Doan's Kidney Pills helped me when my kidneys were out of order and I gladly recommend them to others. I was troubled with a weak and aching back and the kidneys acted unregularly and irregularly. I was hardly ever free from headaches and was dull and sluggish. Doan's Kidney Pills freed me from the trouble and put me in good shape."

BIGGEST MONEY MAKER'S GONE?

Famed Juan Casiano Oil Well is Shut Down for Rest.

Produced Hundred Million in Money in Nine Years.

Fear Salt Water Inflow has Ended its Career.

(SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.)

TAMPICO (Mex.) Dec. 31.—Four-ing forth wealth to the amount of nearly $100,000,000 from a twelve-inch hole in the earth within a period of a little more than nine years is the record made by the famous Juan Casiano well of the Mexican Petroleum Company. Just

now this remarkable producer is taking a layoff from its long and unremitting activity. Whether the resulting appearance of salt water in the oil means that the end of its production is near at hand cannot be definitely determined at this time.

The well has been shut down and will be given a good rest, it is stated, in the hope that the water may settle and the former pure petroleum production be restored.

It is said that Juan Casiano 7, as this well is called, has yielded larger profits on the money invested and the cost of upkeep than any business agency in the world. It would be more guesswork to say what interest it has given on the investment,

but it is many thousands of dollars and might for nearly a decade

the monster gusher and throbbed

as it poured its dark, greasy fluid into the pipe line that leads to Tampico. Only a few men were employed in handling its production from the time it left the mouth of the well until it was stored in the tanks of the tank steamships that carried it to the markets of the world.

When this phenomenal well was brought in on September 14, 1910,

it had an initial measured daily production of 10,000 barrels a day.

The giant column of oil shot high into the air. It was with the great difficulty that the great steel cap and throttle were placed over the orifice and the monster brought under subjection. Enormous quantities of the fluid were lost before the well was brought under control.

To shut out the flow entirely would have meant probably a blow-out and the destruction of the well. The output was throttled to 20,000 barrels a day, and it settle down to this amount, which it continued without interruption until salt water made its appearance

recently in the oil.

It is felt by the officials of the Mexican Petroleum Company that the Juan Casiano has done its full share of production and that it is an advantage to make a record that may stand for all time.

It is possible, say oil experts, that the salt water may be the result of petroleum purity and continue its 20,000 barrels a day yield for many years. It is the general theory that the salt water appearance was caused by overdrilling in the Juan

Casiano field; that the agitation of the oil pool through the salt water within reach of the well's section, and that the former condition may be restored by a good rest, enabling the salt water to

OLD RICHENBAR GOLD MINE WORKING AGAIN.

MILLING PLANT TO BE RUN BY ELECTRICAL POWER AND TUNNEL OPENED.

(SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.)

MAYER, (Ariz.) Jan. 2.—The old

Richenbar gold mine, on the Agua

Fria, east of Bumblebee, is to be worked again by its owners, H. M.

Meriwether & Co., of Kansas City, with a force of over 100 men. On the property is a milling plant and other equipment that cost about $250,000. This is to be operated electrically at the new southern line of the Arizona Power Company on its way to the Kay mine and Phoenix, passing very near.

A new tunnel is to be driven at 400 feet depth an ore body described as very large, but of low grade. Cordes, on the Bradshaw

Mountain Railroad, is the shipping point.

The Bug Copper is nearing 300 feet in depth, there to start lateral development on a vein of very rich sulphide that has been followed by the shaft. A new hoist and compressor have been installed.

The Bill Arp property on Turkey

Creek has been sold by L. E. Ellis of Mayer, under a lease to W. H.

Morrison and B. W. Harris of Mayer.

Property is in Black Canyon district. It is an old producer, and is said to have 3000 tons of thirty-ounce silver ore ready for stoping.

OIL FROM SHALES.

Expert Predicts Big Development

Coming for Arizona.

(SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.)

TUCSON (Ariz.) Jan. 2.—Dean G.

M. Butler of the University of Arizona, College of Mines and Engineering, considers one of the most important matters discussed at St. Louis

by the American Mining Congress to have been that concerning the extraction of oil from shales. He believes that beds of oil shale will be discovered in Arizona, possibly in the south of a bed in Colorado

from which oil could be recovered to duplicate the present entire production of this country for years to come. The cost of handling oil shales has been estimated at $4.50

a ton and the product would average barrel of oil to the ton.

WANT POWER TO AID OIL WELLS.

Power Project Completion will Help Production.

Company Asks Adequate Rate to Rush Plant Work.

Kern County is Leader with New Development.

(SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.)

BAKERFIELD, Jan. 4.—Production of oil in the San Joaquin Valley has been materially increased this year. If the San Joaquin Light and Power Corporation, which furnishes electrical power for pumping to hundreds of wells, is able to complete its great new power project on the Kings River and thus supply a larger number of operating companies, it is estimated there will be no less than 100 wells afloat on power at the present time and as many more will probably be drilled when pumping facilities are secured. Electric power has been installed on many of the leases of the old Kern River field, and in every instance production has increased from 25 to 50 per cent., it is reported by active operators.

A hearing will be held tomorrow at Fresno before Railroad Commissioner Devlin on the power company's application for revision of its authorized rates so that more funds may be available to rush the plant construction without delay

over finance.

It is not likely the company will meet with much opposition in kaking for adequate rates, for it is the oil companies are eager to get connected up with electricity from the new plant.

NEW DEVELOPMENTS.

Holidays failed to hamper new developments in the oil fields of Kern county. Of the six new wells are in California last week, five are in Kern county. Three are in the Midway field and one each in the Sunset and Kern River fields.

Eleven wells were put under test of water shut in the county during the holidays. Six are being deepened or redrilled.

Another place of Kern county is carrying on a campaign to develop a new oil field. The proposition is to develop a new oil field
